

CV

Asst. Prof. Dr. Suzan Youssef Ahmed Al-Qalini, born on February 9, 1960 AD.

- Bachelor's degree in Mass Communications, Cairo University, with an excellent grade.
- Doctorate in Media, Cairo University, with first class honors.
- Teaching assistant at the Broadcasting Department, Faculty of Information, Cairo University, 1982.
- Lecturer in the Broadcasting Department, Faculty of Information, Cairo University, 1989.
- Professor, Faculty of Arts, Ain Shams University, 2000.
- I presented 13 books and more than twenty-five scientific papers to the Arab Library.
- She supervised more than twenty master's and doctoral theses in various colleges and scientific institutes.
- I participated in organizing or researching ten scientific conferences inside Egypt and two conferences in Lebanon and Tunisia.

Her articles are published in seven periodicals, including the Journal of Radio Art and Media Studies and the Journal of Media Research and Middle East Affairs.

- I participated in three research and group studies that dealt with evaluating graduates of the Faculty of Media, analyzing the content of regional radio stations in Egypt, and analyzing religious discourse in the Egyptian media.

She taught ten training courses for leaders of local administration and environmental management, and trained radio broadcasters, program planners, public relations and radio planning.

- He was editor-in-chief of the two magazines, Ain Shams Al-Ghad, issued by the University's College of Arts since 1999, and Middle East Affairs, issued by the University's Middle East Research Center since 2002.
- Member of the editorial board of On, Cooperatives, and Radio Art magazines.
- Media advisor to the People's Assembly.
- Member of the National Council for Women.
- Member of the Media Sector Committee of the Supreme Council of Universities.
- Member of various scientific societies, councils and media committees.
- I presented 15 books and more than twenty-five scientific papers to the Arab Library
- She supervised more than twenty master's and doctoral theses in various colleges and scientific institutes.
- I participated in organizing or researching thirty scientific conferences within the Arab Republic of Egypt and two conferences in Lebanon and Tunisia.
- I participated in three research and group studies that dealt with evaluating graduates of the Faculty of Media, analyzing the content of regional radio stations in Egypt, and analyzing religious discourse in the Egyptian media.

Her articles are published in seven periodicals, including the Journal of Radio Art and Media Studies and the Journal of Media Research and Middle East Affairs.

She taught ten courses for leaders of local administration and environmental management, and trained radio broadcasters, program planners, public relations and radio planning.